

Quality standard improvement and new partnership development were target objectives in 2004

2004 meant for Antibiotice company a year for the continuation of the preparations for the integration in the European Union. Thoroughly conscious of the importance of achieving the competitiveness necessary to the international market, our company efforts were directed towards the improvement of the quality standards and towards the development of new partnerships to reach new markets.

The consistent effort in the direction of the external market development made possible the fact that at the end of the last year Antibiotice reached a share of over 20% of the exports in the total turnover. And also our consistency in directing the activity to meet our customers' requirements allowed us to maintain the market quota in 2004, too.

The continuation of the investments for the modernization of the production flow and for the consolidation of a professional team, trained at European standards, were other two target objectives for the last year.

As a result of the consistent efforts and determination of the managing team in reaching quality objectives, the achievement in May 2005 of the Compliance Certificate issued by European Pharmacopeia is but to confirm that Antibiotice thoroughly met the requirements asserted by the international standards Good Manufacturing Practice.
